

JODHAMAL HONOURED AT HOUSE OF COMMONS, LONDON

Jodhamal Public School has earned International fame as it was listed among the “Great Place to Study across India” and was honoured at the House of Commons, Westminster Palace in London.

In the recently held ceremony at the House of Commons in London, Jodhamal Public school was awarded the GPTS award by chairperson of European External Affairs Committee and Member House of Lords, Baroness Verma. On the behalf of the school the award was received by Divya Gupta, an Alumni of Jodhamal School.

The award is based on a Pan India Survey. Great place to study certificate is a badge of honour for the school, which has high standards & focus on Learning experiences, learning objectives and learning focus. Some of the other Great Place to Study award winners were Mayo College, YPS, St. Pauls Darjelling, Assam Valley School, Raj Kumar College, Rajkot, Punjab Public School, Sherwood College.

The Keynote speaker at the function were Member House of Lords, Baroness Verma, Prof. Neil Roberts of Edinburg University, Dr. Banerjee of London School of Economics & Director Stern of UK International Universities.